"LOCAL IS LEKKER"

My great dream is that I've won all the beauty contests in the world and all the people I don't like are forced to build me a castle in France.

My life's really not so awful - it just seems that way when I'm awake.

My mom thinks I'm at the movies.

BEST WORD OF THE YEAR.

Ineptocracy (in-ep-toc-ra-cy) -

A system of government where the least capable to lead are elected by the least capable of producing, and where the members of society least likely to sustain themselves or succeed, are rewarded with goods and services paid for by the confiscated wealth of a diminishing number of producers.

The problems we face today are there because; those people who work for a living, are outnumbered by those who vote for a living.

Whisper my favorite words: "I'll buy it for you."

Who are the grateful dead and why do they keep following me?

Who are these kids and why are they calling me Mom?

When I'm not in my right mind, my left mind gets pretty crowded.

Who is General Failure and why is he reading my hard disc?

What colour is the sky in your world?

What could possibly go wrong?

What happens if you get scared half to death twice?

What's another word for Thesaurus?

Whatever kind of look you were going for, you missed.

What am I? Flypaper for freaks!?

Why be difficult when with a bit of effort you can be impossible?

Why do people with so few clues have so much time?

With friends like these, who needs hallucinations?

You are validating my inherent mistrust of strangers.

When tempted to fight fire with fire, remember that the Fire Department usually uses water.

Who me? I just wander from room to room.

You are here and this is the highlight of your day.

You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time–that should be enough for most purposes.

You can't have everything. Where would you put it?

You get what you settle for.

You never really learn to swear until you learn to drive.

You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you odd.

You should see the ones we don't let out in public.

Your first mistake was trusting the people who sent you here.

Your kid may be an honours student, but you're still an idiot.

Your silliness has been noted.

You're only young once - after that you need another excuse.

Sometimes the truth can be so unnecessary.

Sounds like a personal problem to me.

Take my advice. I'm not using it.

Tell me what you need, and I'll tell you how to get along without it.

Thank you for not trying to raise my consciousness.

Thank you for your gift of sarcasm. I will treasure it always.

The SOLUTION to this puzzle will be published in the June 2012 Billboard.

How to play:
A Sudoku puzzle is made up of nine horizontal rows & nine vertical columns, with thicker lines dividing the grid into nine blocks of three horizontal layers & three vertical stacks. The aim is to fill in the grid so that each row, column & block of nine squares contains all the numbers from 1 to 9 without repeating or omitting any of the numbers.
Certain numbers are already placed & the more of these there are the easier it should be to work out the puzzle. Check the grid to see which numbers appear more than once in the three groups of horizontal or vertical blocks. If there is a number in column 1 that recurs in column 3, remember it must also appear somewhere in column 2, but only in the block that doesn't already contain that number.

Look along the blocks in that layer to see if the same number recurs in any of the horizontal rows. If so, this cancels out the possibility of it appearing in the same row in the block in the first stack.

Work through each layer of three rows & each stack of 3 columns until as many blanks as possible are filled. Now start on the individual blocks, preferably with ones with the most numbers already filled in. Which numbers from 1 to 9 must still fit into the block? Remember that if a number has to fit into a specific column or row, it cannot appear anywhere else in that column or row. Make sure you check the clues in the neighbouring blocks. Try finish one block before moving to the next. GOOD LUCK !
